OUP and Open Access

OUP was one of the earliest publishers to incorporate Open Access. All of our journals comply with the publishing requirements of the major funding bodies in the US and UK, and we are committed to expanding access to research and increasing awareness of the OA movement among authors and readers.

OUP Supports Open Access

Oxford University Press (OUP) is mission-driven to facilitate the widest possible dissemination of high-quality research. We embrace both green and gold open access (OA) publishing to support this mission.

OUP operates two different open access models:

- An optional open access model (Oxford Open) for the majority of our journals. Please see the individual journal home pages to find out whether they offer optional open access.
- OUP also publish fully open access journals

Outreach

European projects ▲

OUP has participated and is participating in EU projects looking at open access publishing: SOAP (Study of Open Access Publishing), PEER (Publishing and the Ecology of European Research), and OAPEN (Open Access Publishing in European Networks).

Connect

OASPA ▲

Oxford University Press is a board member of OASPA (Open Access Scholarly Publishers Association), a trade association formed in 2008. The association works to establish best practice, promote innovation, and educate the wider research community and public on open access.

ALPSP ▲

We suggested, devised, and run the Association of Learned and Professional Society Publishers (ALPSP) course 'Developing Open Access and Hybrid Journals'.

OAPEN-UK ▼

We have also spoken about open access at numerous events and we're always happy to share knowledge and experience. If there's anything else you'd like to know about Oxford Open, please email us.

Developing Countries Initiative

As a mission-led, university press publisher, Oxford University Press strives for maximum impact and dissemination worldwide, with fair and sustainable pricing according to prevailing market conditions.

As such, OUP is committed to ensuring that non-profit research institutions in developing nations have access to critical research.

OUP participates in a number of free or heavily-reduced rate developing country access initiatives, including INASP, EIFL, and Research4Life, as well as our own Developing Countries Offer.
